

WiCAHED Virtual Speed Networking Speaker Biographies

Diane Reinhard, Craig Hospital

Vice President of Patient Care Services & Chief Nursing Officer

Diane Reinhard, DNP, MBA, MSCIS, RN, CRRN, NE-BC, is vice president of patient care services and chief nursing officer at Craig Hospital. Craig is a national, not-for-profit, top 10 rehabilitation and research hospital that specializes in spinal cord and/or traumatic brain injury. At Craig, Diane oversees the utilization of human, fiscal and material resources allocated to inpatient and outpatient nursing, food services, pharmacy, nursing education, patient/family education, infection control, Nurse Advice Line, respiratory and quality departments. She also manages the Community Relations and Benefits programs. Diane led the program to establish Target Zero, a campus-wide initiative to reduce (or eliminate) all hospital-acquired harm/infections. She oversaw the effort that earned Craig its 4th Magnet designation for excellence in nursing. Diane serves on the Denver Metro Chamber Leadership Foundation Board of Directors.

Jessie Patterson, SCL Health

Director of Construction

Jessie Patterson has over twenty-five years of experience in the healthcare design and construction industry, currently serving as Director of Construction for SCL Health. Mrs. Patterson began her career at Saint Joseph Hospital in a Facilities Planner role soon after graduating from the University of Colorado with a bachelor's in Environmental Design in Architecture. Her role eventually grew into comprehensive capital project oversight from conception to completion with collective budgets in excess of $150M. Current responsibilities include managing project teams overseeing multiple acute care renovations along with the development and implementation of design standards for a growing provider care network throughout the Colorado and Montana regions.

Darren Boyle, UCHealth

Director of Facilities Management

Darren Boyle is the Director of Facilities Management for UCHealth in the Northern Colorado region; Primary facilities include Greeley Hospital, Longs Peak Hospital, Medical Center of the Rockies, Poudre Valley Hospital, and numerous Clinics and Emergency Departments totaling about 3 million square feet. He received his Bachelor's and Masters of Science degrees from Colorado State University. In 2006 he joined the health care world as a team lead in grounds at Medical Center of the Rockies. Opening a new hospital gave Darren many opportunities to learn and grow. Darren was promoted to facility manager in 2010 and regional Director in 2017.

Paul Rowley, Banner Health

Senior Project Manager

Paul Rowley is a Senior Project Manager at Banner Health, where he coordinates and leads project teams in the development and construction of projects, including selection of architects and contractors to work with our internal support groups (IT, Tech Management, Security) and end users to complete renovations and new build projects that support our staff and patients in receiving healthcare. Paul has worked in the construction industry for over 30 with 10 years spent at Rocky Mountain Prestress (now Wells Concrete), 11 years spent at GE Johnson Construction, and the past 10 years at Banner Health as an owner's representative. Paul is an avid hiker and doodle lover from Colorado.

Jamie Staton, Children's Hospital Colorado

Interiors Program Manager

Jamie Staton joined Children's Hospital CO in 2017. She serves as the Interior Program Manager, working along a talented team of interior designers and project managers to provide a healing environment for patients, families, and team members. Jamie has spent the past 13 years of her career in the healthcare setting, exploring fresh and innovative approaches to the complexities and challenges inherent in health care design and construction.

Paul Kramer, NV5
Healthcare Project Director

Paul Kramer has more than 30 years of experience providing both architecture and program management services for healthcare project renovations and new construction. His experience includes the development of and recommendations for overall project scope and delivery methods, master budget and schedule development, and ongoing project team management. His strengths include managing multiple stakeholders within the overall project team structure, contractor and related sub-contractor procurement processes, and the definition and implementation of sustainable/environmental initiatives. Paul understands the critical importance of defining and maintaining project requirements and constraints in order to manage the Owner's risk, while maximizing a project's value.

Michelle Barth, Children's Hospital Colorado
Interior Design Project Manager

Michelle Barth specializes in interior design supporting and managing renovations and new construction throughout Colorado at all Children's Hospital locations. Michelle began as a student design intern for Children's Planning, Design & Construction Department. She was ultimately promoted to project manager and has been on the owner side with Children's for 8 years. Michelle's expertise lies in healthcare design and construction and is currently involved in various renovation projects including a pediatric mental health institute build out.

Becca Genualdi, Denver Health
Project Manager, Planning & Construction

Becca Genualdi joined Denver Health's Planning & Construction team in April 2019 and manages new construction and renovations at Denver Health's campus, off-site clinics, and school-based clinics. After receiving her Bachelor of Science in Construction Engineering and Management from Marquette University, she moved west and joined Mortenson's team for 6 years. She is the co-chair for the Downtown Denver Partnership's CityBuild group as well as an active member of the DDP and is a member of Women in Healthcare. Currently, Becca is managing the redesign of Denver Health's emergency department (as Denver Health moves through activation of the new Outpatient Medical Center), COVID response redesign project, and closing on new Sloan's Lake Primary Care Clinic, among other renovation projects.